Court Will Hear Appeal Of Greeholm Residents

The efforts of Greenholm residents to overturn the Planning Board's approval of the Collins Development project received a boost last Friday from Mercer County Judge Paul A. Levy.

Judge Levy agreed to hear the appeal even though the 45-day limit for such motions had expired. Residents of Greenholm, a private residential street adjoining the west side of the proposed Collins plan for expansion of Palmer Square, originally appealed to Borough Council. Council upheld their complaints — that the planned loading docks and garbage facility and resulting traffic flow would have an adverse impact — but Collins appealed to Judge Levy, arguing that the Council had no jurisdiction.

The judge sided with Collins, but by that time the 45-day limit had expired. So Greenholm, through its attorney, Lewis Goldshore of Trenton, asked for the ex-

Pioneer in Public Opinion Polls, George H. Gallup Sr. Dies at 82

One of Princeton's leading citizens has died. George H. Gallup Sr., the man who made public opinion sampling a serious force in America and in the world, died July 26 at his summer home in Switzerland. He was 82 years old.

A memorial service will be held Monday, August 20, at 3:30 p.m. at Trinity Church, 33 Mercer Street. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the Montgomery Rescue Squad, PO Box 105, Belle Mead 08402, or to Quill and Scroll Foundation, School of Journalism, University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa, 52242.

In October 1935, Mr. Gallup devised the first Gallup Poll. It focused on the question, asked of 3,000 Americans: "Do you think expenditures by the government for relief and recovery are: Too Little? Too Great? About Right? Three out of five of the respondents said: "Too Great."

He was 32 years old at the time and had recently purchased a farm outside of Princeton at the urging of his friend Bruce Gould of the Ladies Home Journal. While keeping his job at Young and Rubicam advertising agency in New York, Mr. Gallup founded the American Institute of Public Opinion here. From it he began syndicating surveys to newspapers under the title: "America Speaks: The National Weekly Poll of Public Opinion."

His academic background in journalism and psychology, and the marketing hustle he early exhibited to get ahead in the world, admirably suited him for a long and distinguished career in developing sampling techniques and using them in ways that have permanently changed even the way democracy works.

Sites, Numbers, Cost Are Biggest Questions Facing Princeton on Affordable Housing

Sites, numbers of units, cost: these three are the biggest question marks and headaches facing those who must fashion Princeton's response to the Mount Laurel decision requiring developing communities to contribute their fair share of low and moderate income housing.

The greatest of these at this time may be sites. Or so it would seem to one who sat in last Thursday on the Planning Board's discussion of the three-tiered proposal by Margen Penick for a an alternative to the affordable housing ordinance presently before Township Committee.

Mrs. Penick's plan calls for 350 units produced or subsidized by developers under a density bonus program on site-specific large lots. It calls for an additional 310 units produced by a housing trust in existing or new residential high-density (RH) zones, and recommends that these units be funded by a contribution on all future development, commercial as well as residential, which is not in a density bonus or existing trust program.

And it suggests that 100 units, plus or minus, depending on what number of low and moderate income units is set as Princeton's fair share, be bonded directly. Half of these would be existing units that are rehabilitated, the other half would be new, on a newly designated RH site.

Mrs. Penick and the co-authors of her plan, Hans Sander and Elizabeth Hutter, suggest that this three-tiered, site-specific proposal would be more flexible, and more in keeping with original 1980 Master Plan intentions, than the affordable housing plan suggested by consultants Allan Mallach and John Nolon.

More important, Mrs. Penick says, the new proposal would take up less land than the consultants' overlay approach and result in fewer total units being built. Best of all it would place control in the Township's hands and not in the hands of developers. By "orderly public process," a favorite phrase with Mrs. Penick that means, in this case, public hearings before the planning and zoning boards, the public would know what is going on as the

Overnight Parking Subject Of Meeting This Wednesday

The question of whether to permit overnight parking on Borough Streets will be the subject of a meeting this Wednesday evening (August 1) at 6 p.m. at Borough Hall.

Attending will be the three members of the recently formed Citizens Liaison Committe on Overnight Parking; Councilman John Huntoon, who has been leading the effort to draft an overnight parking ordinance; Mayor Sigmund; and Borough Attorney Walter Bliss.

The three committee members are Joseph Capalbo, 19 Bank Street; Diana Radcliffe, 43 Moran Avenue; and Richard Rein, 34 Park Place.

The question we must ask, said Mr. Huntoon, is whether we will proceed with the ordinance and, if so, what kind of an ordinance we will pursue.

Council member Irv Urken has gone on record as opposed to overnight parking, and Councilwoman Jane Terpstra has expressed serious reservations. Councilman Peter Bearse supports an overnight parking ordinance. Other Council members have not been polled, said Mr. Huntoon.

Greenholm

tension. The judge set September 5 as the date for a pretrial conference. The trial itself, which will be heard by the judge, is expected to be heard shortly thereafter.

What will be the tenor of that trial? The lawyers for the opposing sides provided some clues.

"Our concerns are the negative impact on Greenholm," said Mr. Goldshore, including "trash compaction and pick-up, the proximity of the loading dock, the entrance and exit of the parking garage on Chambers Street, and also the bulk of the five-story office building, which clashes with the residential character of Greenholm.

"We're also concerned with sewerage. By Collins' own figures, I believe, some 56,000 gallons of sewerage will be discharged by this project. In light of the overflow of Harry's Brook that deserves serious consideration."

Ground Rules at Issue. Mr. Goldshore said that the judge established one ground rule: "that we are not to raise issues settled at the time of preliminary site plan approval." But, the Greenholm lawyer contended, "we have to prove that these issues were either not addressed at all or were not adequately addressed at the preliminary stage, and that's exactly what we intend to do.

"We also believe that the preliminary site plan approval was inconsistent with the municipal ordinance that says that adverse impact of new projects must be minimized, particularly where new structures abut residential areas."

Arguing the case for Collins is Dennis Casale of the firm of Jamiesnn McCardell Moore Peskin & Spicer. He viewed Judge Levy's action last week in the following light:

"He indicated that they were going to be thoroughly limited in what they could attack," said Mr. Casale. "The issue narrows down to whether Collins' final site plan complies with the conditions of preliminary approval. We're fairly comfortable that the final site plan does comply in all material respects."

The Collins lawyer said that while preliminary site plans establish the major elements of a project, the law does permit minor deviations at the time of final approval. "But frankly we don't see any minor deviations, either," said Mr. Casale. "One of the problems is that our plans do comply; the Greenholm people just don't like our plans."

As for sewerage, Mr. Casale continued, "from what the judge said it seemed clear to me that that will not be an issue for him." The lawyer added that Collins has agreed to do everything asked of it with respect to sewerage and "a little more" than was asked.

Mr. Casale added that the Collins plan underwent two preliminary approval hearings — in 1981 and 1982. The development company gained approval each time and "no one complained about the preliminary plans — not Bill Potter, not Witherspoon Jacksnn, and not Greenholm," said the lawyer, citing other recent opponents of Collins. The deadline for appealing the preliminary approvals has long since passed, Mr. Casale added.

POLLUTION WOES REMAIN

After Repairs. Harry's Brook continues to be polluted in spite of strenuous efforts to stop the flow of raw sewage into the open stream. However, the situation shows some improvement.

In a major move to solve the problem, sanitary sewers on Spring and Vendeventer Streets and Park Place were completely replaced this year. Cracks had been discovered in the pipes and sewage was getting out of these cracks and into the nearby storm sewers, which empty into Harry's Brook.

Prior to the replacement of these lines, the fecal coliform count at the Harrison Street Outfall — where Harry's Brook comes out into the open — was 24,000. A sampling made in mid-July, after the sewer line replacement, was 540. The safe count is 200. Results of samples taken in late July are expected at the end of the week.

Harry's Brook is the sore point in the sewer situation. Fecal coliform bacteria, however unpleasant, are a danger when they are out in the open. These water-borne bacteria do their damage when they come in direct physical contact with a human or animal.

But the brook is fed by the storm sewers. And the fecal coliform counts in the Park Place/Vandeventer area did not show much improvement when the sewer pipes were replaced..

Spot testing of manholes and catch drains atong the storm sewer in this area show count reductions of 5400 to 20, 35,000 to 24,000, and 54,000 to 24,000. Some areas, however, saw an increase in bacteria, and even these decreases could hardly be said to have provided a safe situation.

Martin Dorward, new head of the Sewer Operating Commission, believes that the total volume of contaminated water getting into the storm system has been reduced. "The total fecal counts are less than they were before rehabilitation."

Clearly, however, there is disappointment that the massive rehabilitation effort did not solve the problem of high fecal coliform counts. Efforts are now underway to try and determine why the storm sewers, which should carry only storm water, are infiltrated with sewage.

Physical Inspections. Crews are physically inspecting storm pipes to see if there are any direct connections of sewer laterals from houses to the storm sewer instead of to the sanitary sewer. Dye testing is also going on. "One house could do it," said Mr. Dorward. Laterals are also being checked for cracks from which raw sewage could emerge into the ground and then into the storm sewers.

Meanwhile, pressure mounts to get at the source of the problem. The Princeton Environmental Commission is demanding that Princeton Borough and Township ban all new sewer connections to the Harry's Brook trunk line. Township Mayor Pike has gone on record in opposition to this ban; Borough Mayor Sigmund is adopting a "wait and see" attitude.

A "sewer summit meeting" to bring Borough and Township officials together to work on the Harry's Brook and other sewer problems had been scheduled twice this summer. It was cancelled both times. No new date has been set.

To Seek and Disconnect

A pilot project will begin later this summer to seek and disconnect sump pumps that are connected to the sanitary sewer. Roof leaders and drains will also be checked.

Approximately $50,000 will be spent in a house-to-house search for such pumps. One thousand homes in the Borough and Township will be visited.

The outflow of storm water into sanitary sewers, instead of into the ground, causes the sewers to become overloaded, and then to overflow. This is what happens, without fail, on Valley Road during heavy rains. Because the sewage is mixed with water, it presents a lesser health hazard than would raw sewage; nonetheless the problem is serious.

In addition, all water in the sanitary sewers has to be treated. Taxpayers are therefore paying for the unnecessary treatment of storm water.

RENT ORDINANCE CHANGE

To Be Introduced. A change in the Borough Rent Registration Ordinance that would relieve landlords of the need to provide a 60-day notice of rent increase to new tenants will be introduced at the August 14 Borough Council meeting.

Several Borough landlords and tenants, including Benjamin Kahn and Pierena Thayer, have taken strong positions on this ordinance change during recent Council meetings: Mr. Kahn, a landlord, pro, and Mrs. Thayer, a tenant, con. Several landlords had requested the Borough Rent Registration Board adopt the new provision, and the Board agreed to support it.

Currently, all rent increases have to be communicated to the tenant 60 days in advance, and this has applied to new tenancies too. Landlords feel that this rule is cumbersome in the case of new tenants..

Under the revised ordinance, landlords may receive an immediate increase in rent with a new tenancy provided they have filed notice of the increase with the Rent Registration Board and that the health officer certifies within 30 days of occupancy that there are no substantial violations in the unit.

Substantial violations include lack of potable water supply, inadequate plumbing, inadequate heating facilities, the presence of vermin, and the lack of safe electrical service.

If after 30 days the health officer has not certified to the absence of substantial violations, the tenant will be entitled to a refund of the difference between the old and new rentals. The Rent Registration Board will step in at the end of this 30-day period to inform new tenants of their rights, according to Linda Feldstein, rent registration coordinator.

A change in the Borough sidewalks ordinance is up for a vote on August 14. The ordinance spells out what has only been understood and implied up until now: that it is the responsibility of the property owner to keep sidewalks in good repair.

Sidewalks, curbs and gutters have to be constructed, repaired and maintained according to Borough specifications, and the work has to be approved by the Borough engineer.

There was a lively discussion at last week's Council meeting about the damage caused by trees to both sidewalks and sewer lines. However, although Council members appeared sympathetic, they agreed that Borough property owners are still responsible for the problems trees cause.

In other business, Council voted not to accept the one bid it had received on its rebid of the recycling contract. The bid, from Monarch Recycling (the firm that has expressed interest in collecting newspapers and glass at curbside), contained too many exceptions.

The Borough, after two unsuccessful attempts to obtain suitable bids for its recycling program, is now allowed to enter into direct negotiations with a carter.

Council also rejected the one bid that came in to renovate the old gym behind Borough Hall for use as a senior center. The amount of the bid was far in excess of the monies available from the County for renovation. The contract will go out for bidding again.

The driveway of the Princeton Public Library was officially designated a one-way street. This designation allows police to issue tickets to vehicles entering the driveway from Wiggins Street instead of from Witherspoon.

The choir and orchestra, consisting of 117 Princeton High School students, spent 11 days in Europe, including competition in the 13th Annual International Youth and Music Festival. The choir tied for second place in the international competition and the orchestra was third in the High School orchestra category.

In addition to interviews with the directors, segments of music performed by both groups as recorded in Vienna will be presented on the program. Herb Hobler is host.

PROBATION ORDERED

For Cocaine Possession. A 36-year-old Leigh Avenue resident, facing a sentence for welfare fraud in Mercer County Superior Court, ended up in double trouble when security officials found cocaine in her purse during a routine search before she entered the courtroom.

Last week Sally Ann Best of 27 Leigh Avenue was sentenced for both charges by Judge A. Jerome Moore. He sentenced her to a total of eight years probation, $400 in fines, and $50 in penalties. The judge also ordered her to make full restitution of $4,200 to the county welfare board.

PURSE IS SNATCHED

From Trenton Teenager. A Trenton teenager had her purse snatched last week by a black male, Township police report.

Police said that the victim was standing in the parking lot of the Princeton Packet, 300 Witherspoon Street, last Wednesday evening when she was approached by a black youth, 18 to 19 years old. He spoke to her and allegedly became very rude, police continued. As the victim started to walk away, he grabbed her purse and ran off toward the Community Park School. She ran in the opposite direction.

The victim later returned, found her purse and its articles strewn over the parking lot. $15 was missing from the purse.

The suspect is further described as 5-11 to 6-0, medium build with a small Afro haircut and no facial hair. He was wearing blue jeans and sneakers. Officer David Glacken investigated.

Harassment. A 40-year old Kendall Park resident was charged last week by two victims with harassment. He was identified by police as James Cameron and faces a hearing August 15 in Borough Court.

According to police, two sisters in their 20s, both Princeton residents, were walking on Prospect Avenue when they were approached by Cameron who allegedly, Chief Michael Carnevale said, "addressed them in a manner that was inappropriate and sexist in nature." The victims ran to Washington Road where they flagged a police patrol car and described what had happened. A search of the area failed to uncover the suspect.

Ten minutes later as the two women were walking on Nassau near Tulane Street, they saw the suspect, who again, police said, made inappropriate remarks. They entered a nearby restaurant and called police. This time a search of the area located the suspect inside his parked car on Chapel Drive on the university campus.

Notified of Cameron's apprehension, the victims went to police headquarters and signed a complaint summons against him.

THEFT REPORT

License Plates Stolen. A pair of Canadian license plates (Alberta Province) were reported stolen Monday from a car which had been parked in a Nassau Street lot. The owner, a Princeton university student, told police the registration number of the plates was DIC-288.

Earlier in the week, the rear Florida plate (KQU-540) was removed from the car of another student while it was parked in a University lot near the Quadrangle.

Admitting that the two thefts were "curious" and that both had occurred in the same general area, Chief Michael Carnevale added, "whether there is any connection is unknown at this time."

While moving into Alexander Hall on the Princeton Theological Seminary campus last week, a student left his room unlocked and his wallet on top of a bureau. When he returned two and a half hours later, his wallet containing $100 was missing.

A Princeton University employee on Thursday removed his wristwatch while washing his hands in a men's room in Peyton Hall. He returned 15 minutes later but his $70 watch was gone.

There were three bicycle thefts last week in the Borough.

An unlocked $250 model was taken Sunday afternoon from the rear yard of a Cleveland Lane home and an unlocked $200 10-speed was taken between midnight and 11:30 Sunday morning from the Jose Marti Lounge in the Third World Center on Olden Street. Police report someone entered the building and removed the bike.

The theft of a Schwinn 10-speed valued at $150 was reported on Sunday. Police said the victim, a high school student, had chained his bicycle in the Palmer Square East area and when he returned he discovered the chain lying on the ground and the bike missing.

Township police list thefts from two cars parked overnight in a Greenbrier Row lot — both VW Rabbits.

Taken from the locked car of a Livingston resident were $10 in quarters, an American Express credit card and the driver's license and registration. Taken from the VW whose owner lived on Greenbrier Row were five cassette tapes, a pair of leather workgloves, a flashlight, umbrella and tire gauge with a combined value of $56.

Police report the owner had locked the car but had left a window slightly ajar to let air in. It appears as if a wire was used to enter the car and rifle its glove compartment, they added.

into, was entered some time between July 2 and 27.

Police said that the new owner entered the home Friday afternoon and heard water running in a bathroom and noticed the rear cellar door open. Ptl. Robert Buchanan, who investigated, said that an intruder had apparently entered the home by breaking a kitchen window and had left through the cellar door. There was very little in the house except for some boxes of clothing on the second floor which, police said, had been rummaged through.

Three cushions had been brought up from the cellar to the first floor, apparently to sleep on, police said. They found a number of cigarette butts near the cushions.

CAR IS STRUCK

By Runaway Cyclist. A 13-year-old Trenton youth was injured last week when the brakes of his bicycle broke and he ran into the side of a car at the intersection of Hamilton Avenue and Linden Lane.

The victim, Clevester Blackstone told Ptl. William Fitch that he was coming down a hill on Linden when his brakes snapped and fell apart. "I tried to jump off the bike but couldn't," he said. His bike continued into the intersection and struck the side of a car operated by Christopher Bridgeforth of Philadelphia.

Young Blackstone was transported by ambulance to Princeton Medical Center where he was treated for bruises and abrasions of the right hip and shoulder and released. There were no charges by Ptl. Fitch following the mishap which took place last Wednesday morning.

MAN SHOOTS HIMSELF

In Car at Mall. A 59-year-old Yardley, Pa. resident was rushed to St. Francis Medical Center in Trenton Monday afternoon after he apparently tried to commit suicide in the parking lot at the Quaker Bridge Mall.

Police said that Arthur Schwartz of Keats Road shot himself once in the head with a .32 caliber pistol. According to police, information gathered from witnesses indicated that Mr. Schwartz drove his car to the lot shortly before 1 p.m., stopped and with the motor still running, fired one bullet into his head.

Police could offer no explanation as to why Mr. Schwartz, whom they described as a self-employed Lawrence businessman, tried to take his life. He left no note.

The bullet penetrated but did not lodge in Mr. Schwartz's head, police said. Later, a hospital spoksman described his condition as guarded.

David S. Dodge

DODGE APPOINTED

To University Post. David S. Dodge, 19 Alexander Street, has been named recording secretary of Princeton University effective July 1.

Mr. Dodge, a member of the Princeton Class of 1945, succeeds David S. Thompson, a 1939 graduate of Princeton who retired on June 30 following 27 years of service with the University's development staff. As recording secretary, Dodge will be responsible for receiving gifts to the University, acknowledging them on behalf of the president and trustees, and reporting to donors on the uses made of their contributions.

Mr. Dodge was acting president of the American University of Beirut, Lebanon, when he was kidnapped by terrorists in 1982 and held captive for a year before being released in July 1983.

Born in Beirut, Mr. Dodge lived in Lebanon until he came to the United States as a junior at Deerfield Academy. His father, Bayard Dodge of the Princeton Class of 1909, was president of the American University, which had been founded in 1866 by his great-grandfather, Daniel Bliss, a Congregational missionary. Mr. Dodge entered Princeton in 1941, but interrupted his education to spend three and one-half years in military service during World War II. He resumed his studies at Princeton and earned a bachelor's degree in history in 1948 and a master's degree in Near Eastern studies in 1949.

He worked with the Arabian American Oil Co. and its subsidiary, Trans-Arabian Pipe Line Co., until 1976, when he returned to this country as president of the Near East Foundation in New York. Two years later he was named administrative vice president of the American University of Beirut, which by then had 5,000 students. He became acting president in 1981.

A trustee of the American University of Beirut and of Princeton-in-Asia, Mr. Dodge is chairman of the Near East Foundation and a director of the Cleveland H. Dodge Foundation. He and his wife, Doris, have four children, two of whom, Bayard and Melissa, are Princeton graduates.

CAR USED UNLAWFULLY

Three Are Charged. Two Princeton juveniles and a 20-year old Nassau Street resident have been charged by Borough police with unlawfully taking someone's car without the owner's consent. Two of the three have also been charged with burglary and theft at the Tower Club on Prospect Avenue.

The incident began when Ptl. William Nathan and Ptl. Donald Dawson, while on car patrol a minute after midnight, observed a car pull into a Nassau Street lot with its lights off.

In checking, the officers learned that the driver was an unlicensed 16-year old juvenile. A 13-year old was riding in the front seat and Jose Otero, 20, 244 Nassau, was a passenger in the rear seat.

Further investigation revealed that the car, a 1971 Volvo, had been taken from a Princeton service station where it had been left by its Princeton owner for repairs. Police said the car had been locked but one of the suspects had removed the car keys from the service station office while the attendant was unaware.

Police also found some pork roll and frozen breaded veal cutlets in the rear of the car. They ascertained that Otero and the 13-year-old had entered the front door of the Tower Club, gone to the club's kitchen and taken the food, exiting from a kitchen window.

Otero, charged with burglary and theft and unlawful taking of a motor vehicle, was later released and is scheduled to appear in court August 15.

The juveniles were later released to their parents. They will be processed through the juvenile court by the Borough juvenile officer.

Marijuana Arrest. Twenty-one year old Nancy Barnhart of Yardley, Pa., has been charged with possession of under 25 grams of marijuana by Township police, following her arrest early Sunday morning.

Ptl. Anthony Gaylord and Officer James Delaney on routine patrol noticed Ms. Barnhart's car parked in the Princeton-Kingston Road boathouse lot at 4:35 in the morning. According to police, when Ms. Barnhart opened her purse, a plastic bag which contained what appeared to be marijuana fell out. Then, as she opened her glove compartment to get some identification, the officers observed a type of pipe commonly used to smoke marijuana.

Ms. Barnhart was arrested and later released, pending her court appearance on September 4.

Shoplifter Caught. Gwendolyn Huber, 22, 117 Linden Lane, was arrested inside Epstein's Friday and charged with shoplifting.

She was observed by a store security officer allegedly removing price tags and concealing three necklaces valued at $15 each and four scarves valued at $10 each. Ms. Huber was held until Ptl. Robert Buchanan arrived, arrested and later released. She faces a hearing August 28 in Township court.

NO DECISION YET

On Lower Pyne. Princeton University expects to decide later this year whether to retain or sell Lower Pyne at 92 Nassau Street. Although the main floor of the mock Tudor building, located at the corner of Nassau and Witherspoon Streets, is used as a bus terminal, the upper floors are vacant and in need of repair.

According to Eugene McPartland, university vice president in charge of facilities, the university has not addressed the problem of what it will do with the building if it retains ownership. "Whether to keep it or sell it is the first decision."

Responding to the question of whether the university, if it sold Lower Pyne, would stipulate that the building could not be destroyed, Mr. McPartland said that, if it came to that, "we would have safeguards."

ROTARY INTER-ACT HELPS EDEN INSTITUTE: David L. Holmes, executive director of Eden Institute, accepts a check for $425 from Cathy Hung, district president of Rotary Inter-act Club 751. Watching, from left, are Paul Chesboro of Princeton Rotary Club; Anne Holmes, director of ancillary and outreach services at Eden; Robyn Visconti, the inter-act district secretary; and Christopher Briggs of Lawrenceville, a student at the school for autistic children and young adults. The funds were raised by cake, fruit and candy sales, plus a rummage sale. Eden has recently moved to new quarters at One Logan Drive.

Mr. McPartland has been asked by Mayor Sigmund to review the proposed Borough Landmarks Ordinance. Others asked to go over the ordinance and provide their comments to the mayor are William Lawder, Princeton Theological Seminary vice president for financial affairs, and Morrie Click, president of the Princeton Real Estate Association.

The university has opposed previous attempts to pass a landmarks ordinance. "We are not opposed to identifying sites that need care and alerting owners. We are opposed to the specifics of the ordinance. It adds another administrative layer, another place to go for permits."

"We would want to focus on buildings," continued Mr. McPartland, "not on districts. Then we would know what we're dealing with. And we also wouldn't want someone coming in every second week and adding three more."

THREE-DAY SUSPENSION

For Community Liquors. Community Liquors, 23 Witherspoon Street, has had its license suspended for three days for selling alcoholic beverages to a minor. The penalty, imposed at a Borough Council Disciplinary Hearing, will begin at 12:01 p.m. on August 6.

WINDOW IS BROKEN

By Concrete Football. A 15-by 18-inch window of a Bayard Lane business was broken shortly after midnight Monday morning when someone, police said, threw a piece of concrete the size of a football through it.

Chief Anthony Pinelli reports that two teenage boys were seen running south on Bayard toward Nassau Street. It appears, he added, that the suspects got into a car at the top of the hill but police were unable to locate anybody.

Between 3:30 Saturday afternoon and 11 the next morning, someone pushed the 1984 Ford of a Shady Brook Lane resident forward some ten feet onto the rear lawn. The car's hood had been partially opened and a radio antenna bent. Police said the ignition wires, oil cap and dipstick had been removed from the engine compartment. One of the wires, the oil cap and dispstick were later recovered after a check of the area.

An ignition switch was pulled from a 1979 Chevrolet while it was parked last week on Juniper Row, causing an estimated $50 in damage. Police report it could have been vandalism or an attempt to steal the unlocked car.

Borough police report a bedroom window of a Moore Street home was broken last week by what appears to be a BB pellet. The victim told police she heard a popping noise and the sound of breaking glass around 9 Friday evening. She was unable to locate the source at the time but the next morning she discovered a second story window had been shot at.

DRIVERS FINED $215

For Alcohol Violation. In Borough traffic court Monday, two Princeton drivers were fined $215 each for driving with open containers of alcoholic beverage in their cars. They are James M. Wade, 620 Kingston Road, and Jon D. Kiplinger, 55 Philip Drive.

Fined $60 each were Michael Blaxill, 270 Lambert Drive, careless driving, and Michael J. Murphy, 62 Sayre Drive, failure to keep right. Armando Cortes, 70 Clay Street, paid $65 for illegally backing or turning in a street.

Mark A. Bucci, 11C Greenbrier Row, paid three fines: $20 each on two charges of failure to have inspection and $20, no license or registration in possession. Kimberly M. Hyde, 21-02 Quail ridge Drive, Plainsboro, paid $30 for abandonment of vehicles on private property.

Others: C.P. O'Donnell, 70A Cleveland Lane, $25, obstructing passage of other

Budget Cutback Hits Plasma Physics Lab

In its first 33 years of research, the bottom line of the highly advanced research at the Plasma Physics Laboratory has been an exceedingly simple mathematical formula: Q = 1. Now the formula is more complicated: Q = 1 – $9 million.

Last week the scientists hoping to create a commercially viable nuclear fusion reaction at Princeton University's Forrestal Campus finally suffered one of the inevitable consequences of being publicly funded — a budget cutback.

The decrease, an estimated $9 million out of a current budget of $125 million, is not expected to result in any layoffs of permanent staff. But it will delay by at least two years the laboratory's immediate goal of achieving the condition that scientists there call Q = 1: the state in which the energy being applied to the test reactor equals the energy being produced.

The Plasma Physics scientists had planned to introduce the radioactive isotope known as tritium to the Tokamak Fusion Test Reactor by late 1986. The presence of tritium is considered essential to attaining Q = 1. Now officials believe that the use of tritium will be delayed for two years.

Anthony DeMeo, head of information services at the laboratory, said that the cutback was part of a $30 million reduction in support for the nationwide fusion energy program. The 1984 budget for research at various laboratories across the country, including the one at Princeton, was $470 million but the amount budgeted for fiscal year 1985, which begins in October, was only $440 million.

The tightwad in government was not President Reagan, who had requested a modest increase in the fusion budget to $483 million, but rather the Congress, according to Mr. DeMeo.

What impact will the projected cutback have on the Plasma Physics Lab? Mr. DeMeo said that the scientists there will still be able to do experiments using deuterium instead of tritium and might even be able to demonstrate the conditions in the test reactor of Q = 1 without actually achieving Q = 1. But, he added, "we're not happy" about the cutback. He pointed out that it not only creates uncertainty about future budget decisions, but it also pushes back once again the next goal of the Plasma Physics Lab — the Tokamak fusion core experiment, which is intended to create the conditions in which a reaction becomes self sustaining.

Until last week the hope had been that that experiment could be achieved by 1993 or '94. The new math calls for 1993 + 2.

Parking Ordinance

At last Thursday's Borough Council meeting, Mr. Huntoon outlined a possible ordinance. In it, overnight parking would be limited to Borough residents without a garage or driveway. Vehicles allowed to park overnight would be identified by a decal, which would be purchased from the Borough at a cost of perhaps $25 a year.

Presented as a pilot project, the ordinance would be restricted to 200 permits to be divided among six Borough streets. It would be a very limited program and one that was called "experimental" in nature.

Response from the audience was almost evenly divided between pro and con. Residents of Bank, Sergeant, John and Moran Streets spoke out.

Statements in favor used terms like "very fair," and "certainly worth a try." A Bank Street resident, responding to questions about whether fire and police could get through, said, "If they can get through during the day, they can at night."

Negative comments focused on this question of fire and police, on streets being congested at night, and on the possibility that there wouldn't be sufficient parking spaces for residents.

Results of Survey. The group meeting this Wednesday will study an overnight parking ordinance that has been in effect in Collingswood, New Jersey, to determine how successful it has been. It will also go over the results of a survey being made this week of Humbert Street and Moran Avenue residents. The survey hopes to determine how many residents would require parking places and how any problems of allocation could be solved.

Mr. Huntoon admits that strong support on Council is lacking. Mr. Urken's major objection is that "overnight parking is tantamount to 24-hour parking and would take away the use of the streets from people who work or shop in Princeton." Mrs. Terpstra has voiced several concerns, including the possibility that a "black market" in decals might arise.

A focus of the argument, oddly enough, is safety versus safety — the safety of the citizenry that, according to Borough Police Chief Michael Carnevale, is improved when nighttime streets are free of cars, versus the safety of the individual, as in the case of a woman who must consider the possibility of rape as she leaves her car to walk long blocks home in the dark. Since 1982, six rapes have occurred in Princeton.

"If we decide at the meeting not to pursue the ordinance because of Council resistance," said Mr. Huntoon, "I feel it is incumbent on us to solve the problems caused by a ban on overnight parking in some other way. These problems include the necessity to walk long distances at night and unsafe conditions. It is the responsibility of Council to protect safety and welfare."

CHARLOTTE'S WEB PICKED

As Favorite Book. "Charlotte's Web," E.B. White's book that's about so much more than a talking spider, won first place in Princeton Public Library's election for Favorite Book. It took 28 percent of the votes cast by youngsters from preschool through age 14. In second place was "The Lion, the Witch, and the Wardrobe," by C.S. Lewis, with 11 percent, followed by "Tiger Eyes," by Judy Blume, and "The Very Hungry Caterpillar," by Eric Carle. These tied for third place with 6 percent apiece. In fourth place, "Danny, the Champion of the World," by Roald Dahl, collected 5 percent, to tie with a write-in candidate, "The BFG," also by Dahl. Another write-in, "Cheaper by the Dozen," by Frank and Ernestine Gilbreth, collected 3 percent for fifth place, and Beverly Cleary's "Ramona the Brave" was sixth, with 2 percent. The remaining 34 percent of the votes cast were evenly divided among 22 write-in candidates, which collected one vote apiece.

Judy Blume and Dr. Seuss tied for first place in the Favorite Author category, each taking 22 percent of the vote. Beverly Cleary and Roald Dahl tied for second with 10 percent each. C.S. Lewis third with 8 percent, followed by Noel Streatfield, 6 percent; write-in candidate Carolyn Keene, 3 percent; and Lois Lowry, 2 percent. The remaining 17 percent was divided among 11 write-in candidates, with one vote apiece.

Authors and titles listed on the ballot were chosen in a straw poll held during the first two weeks of July. Any child with a Princeton Public Library card was eligible to nominate titles and authors, and those with the highest number of nominations were placed on the ballot.

Poll-tenders were library volunteers and Girl Scouts coordinated by the League of Women Voters; and a voting booth was furnished by the Mercer County Board of Elections.

VOLUNTEERS SOUGHT

By Big Brothers, Sisters. Big Brothers, Big Sisters of Mercer County invites all who are interested in learning more about becoming a Big Brother or Big Sister to a child in need of adult companionship to attend an orientation session.

The session will be held on Monday, August 6, at 6:30 p.m. at the Nassau Presbyterian Church, 66 Nassau Street. For more information on how several hours each week of your time can make a difference in the life of a child from a single-parent home, call the agency at 695-BIGS.

CHILDREN'S SAFETY TIPS

Available Through Group. Camp Fire, in conjunction with ETS, has developed several safety programs for children who are at home alone. There are separate programs for parents and children, and they deal with the subjects of kidnapping, strangers, emergencies, and self-protection.

Any person or company interested in learning more about these programs should call Eileen Stewart at 392-6138.

MORE ALUMNI SOUGHT

For Reunion. Organizers of the Hopewell Valley Central High School Class of 1974 Reunion, scheduled for this November, are seeking additional class members. To date, they have located 95 percent of the class.

Those interested in the reunion are invited to attend the next meeting, scheduled for August 7. Call Kerry Quinn at 737-9592 for further information.

Bond Projects Postponed

The Princeton Regional School District has postponed construction on several bond projects planned for this summer due to limited bidding on the projects.

Playground projects at Community Park and Riverside Schools, tennis courts, a new High School drive, and renovation of the high school music area will be delayed until next summer.

The administration is confident that a second invitation to bidders, released by January, 1985, will result in successful bids and allow the completion of these projects next summer.

A Happy Ending.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

We often read in newspapers about the crimes that occur in cities.

I hope that your newspaper will print the nice thing that happened today. I walked over to the Princeton Shopping Centr to buy items in the stationers. On the way back I bought groceries at Super Fresh. I put my purse on the counter while changing carts and went my way to make my purchases. When the time came to pay, I found that I had mislaid my purse.

In desperation I walked to the stationers and found that my purse wasn't there, so trudged back to Super Fresh thinking it might be somewhere among my groceries.

When I arrived I saw my daughter who told me that my purse was safe behind the counter. The thoughtful clerk, Nancy, had been given my purse by an honest customer. Nancy had also phoned my daughter to tell her that my purse wos safe behind a counter.

Honesty such as this should be publicized in newspapers.

Paleolithic Peril.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

The kiosk is tacky, but the new fountain looks as though it had been filched from a prehistoric project. The creators of this "updated" town square seem determined to make the place as austere and unfriendly as possible. Have they never seen a European town square?

I can hardly wait to see what they come up with next.

LUCILLE B. GAIGNAULT

Traffic on Terhune.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Increasing traffic on Terhune east of Harrison is raising serious safety questions.

First, there is the matter of speed. In just the past few years, houses have changed hands with the result that home owners are younger and have children who naturally cross the road.

Such a change in ownership calls for a reduction of the current 35 miles an hour speed limit. Add to this the prospect of more and more traffic that will emanate from office buildings now being constructed on Thanet property.

If a 25 mile an hour limit is appropriate for Hamilton for its traffic load, a similar limit is certainly now justified for Terhune.

Still, it's not just speed in a residential section that presents a safety problem. There's also the matter of street parking which, in Princeton, is fast becoming an issue that may soon rank with the rights (somebody else would have used quotes) of our canine friends.

To understand the situation, a motorist need simply drive east from Harrison. When he comes to the intersection of Terhune and Grover, he is obliged, more often than not, to cross over the double yellow line in the middle of the road since parked cars force him to do so.

In leaving cars on the street (evidently a long-standing practice), Terhune homeowners violate no Township ordinance. But the cars do create a bottleneck that inevitably impedes the flow of traffic.

Affected, besides motorists going east, are those heading toward Harrison, students bicycling to the community pool or to Princeton high school — plus children whose homes are on Terhune.

Anyone who drives in Princeton, or in any other town for that matter, knows the uneasy feeling he experiences when there are parked cars on the street and children nerby who may suddenly appear in front of one of the cars.

What's to be done? Terhune residents could be asked to park cars in their driveways (they do exist!) or on Olden (though this probably wouldn't please Olden homeowners). Another option would be for the Township to allow parking on Terhune only at night when traffic is lighter.

Despite the many virtues of Princeton, it is, nonetheless, a community in which certain problems never seem to get resolved. I hope that the Terhune traffic safety problem will not suffer a similar fate.

Tower Causes Worry.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The following is the text of a letter I have sent to John Hall, Jr., Chairman of the Hopewell Township Zoning Board.

As a resident of Pheasant HIll Road, Princeton Township, I would like to voice my concern and objection to putting a microwave tower in Hopewell Township. The proximity to our property is a quarter of a mile.

The health risks are a great concern. Because of the relative newness of microwaves, nothing has been proven to substantiate either side's argument about microwave "fallout." But there is serious question that microwaves can be detrimental to one's health.

We are new owners and chose our property carefully. Our choice was made for this area because of the limited ability for land development, its intrinsic beauty and the feeling that it was safe from pollutants of any kind, whether industrial, esthetic or chemical.

My main concern is that if Hopewell Township grants a variance to allow the expansion of this tower in a residential area, then you may be setting a precedent for not only more towers to be erected, but also opening the door for even higher towers. Why can't this tower be built in a commercial - industrial area? There is a purpose for this zoning law being written as it is — you will be defeating its purpose.

Who in Hopewell Township, except for possibly a select few, will benefit? Is this being pushed through just because it's easier and the threat of an appeal will be too controversial and time consuming?

Is this another case of big business wins out because of finances and the citizen loses because of values and ideals?

I hope you will give this decision your careful and informed consideration.

NEW DIRECTOR NAMED

By Nursery School. Connie Struve, a Princeton resident, has been named director of the University - N.O.W. Day Nursery for children. A member of the nursery's teaching staff for ten years, Ms. Struve was appointed by the school's board of directors to assume her new responsibilities effective the beginning of July.

The U-N.O.W. Day Nursery, located at 171 Broadmead, provides a full-day, year-round learning program for 76 children from 21 months through 6 years. The philosophy of the school is to nurture all aspects of a child's growth — social and emotional as well as intellectual — providing an environment in which the children can learn in their own way and at their own pace. The nursery concentrates on helping preschoolers achieve self-awareness and assurance and develop social maturity, communication skills and physical coordination.

The state accredited U-N.O.W. Day Nursery was established in September 1970 with the aid of Princeton University and the Central New Jersey Chapter of the National Organization for Women (N.O.W.). U-N.O.W. is now a private, non-profit educational institution without formal affiliation with any organization. The acronym N.O.W. has been retained in acknowledgement of its continuing commitment to provide an environment for children free from sex-role stereotypes as well as from religious and racial prejudice.

The new director, a Douglass College graduate with New Jersey certification in Early Childhood and Elementary Education, has been a teacher for 13 years. During her ten years at U-N.O.W., Ms. Struve has been active in many aspects of the school. She has served on board committees in several areas, including hiring, fundraising, and finance.

For further information about the nursery, Connie Struve can be contacted at the school at 924-4214.

IN CHARGE: Connie Struve, new director of the University-N.O.W. Day Nursery, snuggles Graylin Vincent, left, and Charlie Annich, both students at the school. A certified early childhood teacher, Ms. Struve has been associated with the nursery school in various capacities for 10 years.

3 FELLOWSHIPS GIVEN

To Faculty Members. Three Princeton University faculty members have received fellowships from the American Council of Learned Societies to support their research in the humanities and social sciences.

Assistant Professor of History Michael A. Bernstein will study the long-term economic growth and the Great Depression in American capitalism from 1929 to 1939. Educated at Yale, where he received a bachelor's degree magna cum laude in 1976, a master's degree in 1980 and a doctorate in 1982, he also studied at Christ's College, Cambridge. A member of the Princeton faculty since 1982, he is particularly interested in economic history and industrial organization.

Lia S. Lerner, a visiting associate professor of Romance languages and literatures, will continue research on Lucianesque dialogue and variations of Menippean satire in the 16th and 17th centuries. An Argentine citizen, Lerner recieved her undergraduate degree at the University of Buenos Aires in 1965 and her doctorate at the University of Illinois in 1971. On leave from Fordham University, where she has been a faculty member since 1971, she taught at Princeton in 1983-84 and will continue through the first term of 1984-85.

The Great Wall of China is the focus of Arthur N. Waldron's project. He holds a joint appointment as a research associate in East Asian studies and a lecturer in history. A 1971 graduate of Harvard, Waldron studied in Taipei three years before returning to Harvard, where he earned his doctorate in 1981. He joined the Princeton faculty in 1982.

Correction: The New Jersey Education Association (NJEA) position regarding the transfer of Princeton Regional teachers Lawrence Ivan and Thomas Murray is that boards of education have the right to transfer employees for just cause. In this particular case, states an NJEA spokesperson, the individuals involved do not believe that the Princeton Regional Board's decision to transfer them was for just cause.

Biggest Questions

town continues its determination of several decades to keep a socio-economic "mix."

Half an hour before midnight, her colleagues on the Planning Board voted in a unanimous voice vote to ask Duggan Kimball, the new planner, to turn the proposals, with whatever modifications he deemed necessary, into an ordinance for forwarding to Township Committee. At the same time, an amendment to the Master Plan will be drafted that incorporates the changes.

Location, Location. But the discussion Thursday night mainly centered on sites, a real stickler for low and moderate income housing in a town with the high land values of Princeton. The 1980 Master Plan suggested six sites for residential high density. Two of them, the Russell property off Edgerstoune (82 acres) and the Institute property (250 aces) are no longer available, the first having been acquired by a developer, the second the subject of an agreement that keeps it undeveloped.

One site, the White property (310 acres) is the subject of the Calton Homes Mount Laurel suit that has brought the whole issue to a boil on the front burner. Part of that tract lies in the flood plain. The remaining properties, 60 acres belonging to Seward Johnson's widow, 50 to Robert W. Johnson's widow, and 120 to the Winants on the Great Road, may or may not come on the market in the foreseeable future.

Planning Board members are suggesting that the sites, if decided upon, should be named at the time the ordinance is passed, so that if and when they do come on the market, they will not be developed for any other purpose. In addition to these properties, Mrs. Penick has suggested "as options" the De Menil tract of 109 acres, which was recently in litigation with the Township and Planning Board over rezoning; 80 acres belonging to Princeton Day School, and 150 acres at the Ettl Farm.

For the housing trust program of 310 units, she suggests 26.4 acres on Route 206 north and a 5.3 acre parcel on Terhune Road next to the Princeton Shopping Center. The Textile Research Institute property was also mentioned at the Planning Board meeting, which prompted Aristides Georgantas to ask what made anyone think any of these properties would become available. And what about the reaction of neighbors?

Prompt Action Essential. "We're not asking landowners for a free lunch program," Mrs. Penick responded. "In terms of the neighbors, we have to do the best we can. I really think the best time to do it (acquire property with the least amount of resistance) is under Mount Laurel pressure."

Mrs. Hutter felt it was imperative, because there were so few really suitable sites, to pick one now and have the Township ordinance a bond issue to acquire it. "We have to do something concrete," she said. "Otherwise it is all a shell game."

Effect on Market Value. The question comes up frequently whether bonus density low and moderate income units built on the same tract as market unit housing would depress the market value of the larger units. Mrs. Penick suggests proper buffers between the two, or alternatively, building the low and moderate income units at another site, although this would consume more land than on-site location.

"How realistic is our expectation that the density bonus program is going to appeal to developers?" Mr. Georgantas asked. There are those who take the absence of developers at the Township Committee hearings on the affordable housing ordinance to be a sign that they don't object and are eagerly waiting for it to go into effect. Sheila Siderman, who enjoys working with numbers, calculates that developers stand to make millions if the entire fair share requirement is met through a density bonus program.

"There is not mathematical or geometrical proof," Mrs. Penick told Mr. Georgantas, but reminded him that Calton Homes, a developer, was interested enough to bring suit to build 1,280 units on the White tract, 20 percent of which would be low and moderate income.

Dwight O. North asked why the board thought it desirable to mix economic classes on the same land. "Neither are going to be satisfied with the arrangement," he felt. Mr. Georgantas responded that there are ethical considerations beyond economic considerations for wishing to do so. "Princeton has a modicum of responsibility in seeing to it that its cops have the opportunity for the good life in Princeton as well as anyone else," he said.

James Sayen, speaking for the Friends of Princeton Open Space, argued for a consideration of the Potter or Mathesius plans, which would allow Princeton to satisfy some of its fair share by contributing to housing in Trenton. Mr. Sayen pleaded with the Planning Board to remember that Mount Laurel not only addresses exclusionary zoning but also is "an environmental bill of health.... Co-equal with creating affordable housing, it says the environment shall not be destroyed," he noted. "You've got a tremendous ally in Judge Serpentelli. You don't have to panic."

Jim Firestone of Firestone Realty pointed out that Princeton was being ringed by high density in Montgomery, South Brunswick, Lawrence and West Windsor Townships. "I'm beginning to wonder how Princeton is going to allow (this affordable housing) density," he said. "If we do become like Milwaukee, we will wonder where the open space went to. It upsets even me. I never thought I would object to density, I'm in the business."

—Barbara L. Johnson

NASSAU SAVINGS TOPS $200 Million in Assets.

Nassau Savings and Loan Association reported that its assets had passed the $200 million mark during the first six months of 1984. As of June 30, the Association reached $225 million, experiencing a 27 percent growth for the first half of 1984.

According to Joseph A. Bandura, president of Nassau Savings, the growth is largely attributed to an increase in checking, savings, certificates and money-market accounts. Additionally, mortgage activity has recorded a $104 million increase during the same six-month period, compared to an increase of $159 million for the whole of 1983, resulting in a growth of 22 percent in mortgage production over the same period last year.

George Gallup

Mr. Gallup was born in Jefferson, Iowa, on November 18, 1901. He earned a B.A. degree from the University of Iowa in 1923 and a Ph.D., also from Iowa, in psychology in 1928. While an undergraduate he had a summer job with the St. Louis Post Dispatch as one of 50 students hired to conduct a survey of readers on what they liked and didn't like in the paper.

The students were asked to go to every door of the 50,000 homes then in St. Louis, but young George Gallup decided there must be another way. "A New Technique for Objective Methods for Measuring Reader Interest in Newspapers" was the way, and the title of his Ph.D. thesis at Iowa. The idea was random sampling according to a plan that took into account whatever diversity was relevant in the whole body of potential respondents — geographic, ethnic, economic.

He taught courses in freshman English, journalism and psychology, some 18 different courses in a dozen years at Iowa and at Drake, Northwestern and Columbia universities. Interested in fostering the journalistic talents of high school students, he organized Quill and Scroll, an international honorary society which now has a membership of more than one million.

During his teaching career he was devising the readership method for measuring reader interest in the news, features and editorial departments of a newspaper and doing readership surveys for papers in Chicago, Cleveland and Buffalo. He conducted the first study of national weekly magazines in 1931 using this procedure.

A Poll for Mother-in-law. In the early 1930's Mr. Gallup began his research in the field of public opinion and election forecasting. One of his earliest polls was conducted for his mother-in-law who was running for secretary of state on the Democratic ticket in the heavily Republican state of Iowa. She was elected, and re-elected, the first woman to hold that office in the state.

In 1932 he came to New York at the invitation of a new advertising agency, Young & Rubicam, to create a research department and procedures for evaluating the effectiveness of advertising. About the same time he established the first nationwide radio audience measurement by the co-incidental method, which he devised. Later he developed the impact method, the recall procedure now widely used to measure TV commercial and print advertising effectiveness.

Soon after he founded the Gallup Poll to measure and report the public's attitude on social, political and economic issues of the day, he established the British Institute of Public Opinion. It was the first of 35 survey research organizations in 35 foreign countries that are now affiliated with the Gallup Poll.

In 1936, Mr. Gallup correctly predicted the outcome of the election between Alf Landon and Franklin D. Roosevelt. In doing so he set himself directly in opposition to the Literary Digest, an influential literary magazine of the day, which had concluded on the basis of postcard ballots mailed months before the election that Landon would win.

Few Had Cars or Phones. The Digest's lists were gathered from telephone directories and automobile registrations. Using his own sampling techniques, Mr. Gallup was certain that Roosevelt would win easily but that Landon would do well among people rich enough to own telephones and cars.

The Gallup Poll became a national institution and survived the incorrect forecast in the 1948 election that Thomas E. Dewey would defeat Harry S. Truman. In 1983, Mr. Gallup told Richard Reeves, who was interviewing him for an article in Esquire magazine on 50 Americans Who Made a Difference, that the most important poll currently is of the public's opinion on having a woman as President.

In 1937, 37 percent of the populace was in favor of this, he said; recently the figure had risen to 80 percent. He said at the time he thought the United States would soon have a woman President.

In the article, Mr. Reeves wrote, "George Gallup, the go-getter who started out figuring ways to sell more newspapers, ended up permanently changing democracy." By ascertaining, reliably and quickly, "what most of the people are thinking most of the time," he had taken democracy to a new level, Mr. Reeves added.

As founder and head of Audience Research, Inc. Mr. Gallup devised methods for measuring the public's interest in forthcoming motion pictures. He worked with David Selznick, Walt Disney, Sam Goldwyn and others. The film, The Best Years of Our Lives, got its title after 32 possibilities for a Saturday Evening Post story were tested, and went on to win 10 Oscars.

For many years, Mr. Gallup was active in the National Municipal League, serving as its president from 1952-56. He was the author of seven books, the most recent, America Wants to Know, published in 1983. He was the recipient of 14 honorary degrees and had received many awards in journalism and public opinion research.

He believed that the next great development in medicine will come from a thorough exploration of environmental factors associated with illness — food and work habits, medical history, ancestry, psychological attitudes and the like. His most ambitious project was a global survey conducted in 1976 to determine the quality of life in all areas of the world — a study that sampled populations embracing two-thirds of the world's four billion inhabitants.

In addition, for more than a decade Mr. Gallup conducted annual studies of what the public thinks of public schools. Active to the day he died, he was chairman of the Gallup Poll and chairman of the board of the Gallup Organization, Inc.

Survivors include his wife, the former Ophelia S. Miller, whom he married in 1925; two sons, Alec M. Gallup and George H. Gallup Jr., and a daughter, Julia Laughlin, all of Princeton; a sister, Edna G. Short of West Hartford; and five grandchildren.

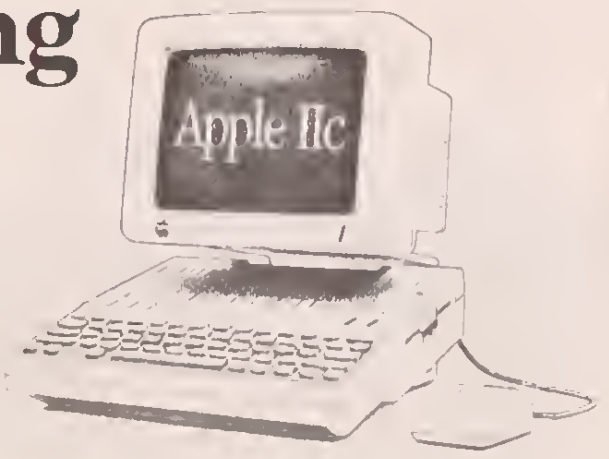
Announcing a drastic reduction on the Apple IIe.



Now the world's most popular personal computer comes in a new size: extra small.

Introducing the Apple® IIc Personal Computer. It's a serious computer about as big as a notebook.

By serious, we mean 128K RAM, a full-size keyboard, and all the reliability of the Apple IIe.

It can run literally thousands of the same programs. For business, education, home management, and just plain fun.

Its svelte 7½ pound body houses a built-in disk drive and built-in electronics for printers and modems.

And the IIc comes with everything you need to start computing. Including an RF modulator that turns your TV into a monitor, a power pack and a free 4-disk tutorial.

Of course, there are still lots of reasons to take home an Apple IIe. Like its ability to grow with more peripherals and accessories than any other computer in the world.

Our professional sales staff will help you make the right choice.

They'll also help you apply for an Apple Credit Card. If you qualify, you can take either Apple II home for as little as 10% down.

Which can prevent a drastic reduction in something else. Your cash flow.

fessional Roster Helps Women — and Men — Find Jobs
roviding an Information Clearinghouse for Central Jersey

ofessional Roster has lping people find jobs 1968. From its begin- as a group focusing on ne employment needs of Princeton University faculty wives, it rapidly evolved into a job information clearinghouse serving the entire central New Jersey area. A happy connection, however, still exists with the University — it provides the Roster with free space, electricity, and heat.

The Roster registered its first man in 1974, and today men account for approximately ten percent of the 600 members currently on file. During periods of high unemployment, the number of registered men always increases.

Located in a cozy, crowded office on the second floor of 171 Broadmead, the Roster's all-volunteer staff offers a welcoming atmosphere to job seekers. The Roster seeks to connect qualified, mostly professional, women and men with employers. This is done in a low-key manner and without any "sell."

After paying a $15 annual registration fee, an applicant is asked to fill out several forms. These are filed under appropriate categories — a writer with varied experience, for example, might be placed in the categories of "advertising," "public relations," and "editorial."

If there's time, a volunteer will refer to these cards when a new job comes in. But most people find it a good idea to drop by the Roster once a week to check out the listings.

In addition to those jobs that are called in by some 250 employers that regularly list with the Roster, the bulletin boards are filled with pages of job listings from all the area universities, two- and four-year colleges, ETS, specialist at the Girl Scouts, and a fund-raising executive at Rutgers University.

"Unemployment is like pregnancy. Once it's over, you forget all about it."

And then there was the young woman, fresh from a stint in the Peace Corps, who came in looking for a part-time job that paid at least six dollars an hour. She had a Master's Degree in psychology from the University of Pennsylvania, with emphasis on linguistics, and had taken some computer courses at Rutgers.

Jobs in New Fields. From the interviewers, she discovered a field that she never knew existed, one that combined computers and linguistics. In the Roster library — a rich source of books and magazines on every aspect of job seeking — she found a list of networking sources in Princeton. She also looked up the names of computer companies in the area.

In addition, she received assistance from one of the Roster's professionally trained career counsellors in writing an appropriate resume. Within six weeks she was offered an excellent job at Mathematica, at considerably more than the six dollars an hour she had set as her goal.

The use of the library and the help of the Roster's counsellors are part of the organization's services, and are included in the $15 fee.

These counsellors are among the 25 volunteers who staff the Roster. A number have been involved for many years. The work, they say, is important, and they stress that when you find a person a job you're really accomplishing something. Also mentioned with enthusiasm was the opportunity to interact and to help people during a time of stress.

Part-time to Full Time. In its first years, the Roster concentrated on part-time work, and even tried to interest some firms in job sharing. Part-time and freelance jobs can still be found there, but the focus has definitely shifted to full-time employment.

The profile of the typical job seeker keeps changing, too. Several years ago, the emphasis was on women over age 45 who were seeking to re-enter the job market — and who were sometimes scared. The Roster was often their first port of call, and they received concerned support as well as career counseling.

Today, the staff reports that most of the women who wanted to return have found their way into the job market. People coming in now are employed but seeking new jobs. The average person is in her 30's and, rather than needing help in assessment, she wants to know how to write a good resume, how to begin a job hunt, and how to be most effective during an interview.

The current corporate influx to the area is bringing executive spouses to the Roster, and a number are male. One man, who had an excellent job in Chicago, left it to accompany his wife, who had found "the career of her dreams." As newcomers to the area, corporate spouses come in not only for information on jobs and networking, but also to find out such basic information as the names of the newspapers that serve central New Jersey.

Lectures and Workshops. The Roster sponsors career-related lectures and workshops, which are announced in the group's thrice-annual newsletter. Over the years, these events have covered such topics as careers in broadcasting, entrepreneurship, managing stress in the job market, legal rights of women, career changes, and networking.

The Professional Roster is serious about the services it performs. The volunteers pride themselves on having a professionally run office that's "more civic than social." But they have sometimes been known to put tongue in cheek. A while back, they ran the following paragraph in the newsletter under "Current Job Listing:"

St. Lucy's Secondary School for Girls in Kandiege, Kenya, is looking for teachers of biology, mathematics, English and science. No previous teaching experience required. Salary $170 a month. The school provides housing, water, and "for three hours a night" electricity. (Please be sure to let us know if you get this job.)

For further information on the Professional Roster, or to volunteer, call 921-9561.

—Myrna Bearse

The Roster seeks to connect qualified, mostly professional, women and men with employers. This is done in a low-key manner and without any "sell."

'TRIPLE BILL' PLANNED

By Backstage Breaks. "Triple Bill: An Evening of Dance, Song and Theatre" will be performed at the Rider College Fine Arts Theatre August 2-5 and 9-12. Curtain time for the Backstage Breaks production is 8 p.m. each night.

Choreographer Nancy Thiel and John Watson Stewart are the co-founders of Backstage Breaks. Looking to an opportunity for sharing between area artists and new audiences, they have designed "Triple Bill" to give greater exposure to a diverse collection of performers by grouping them in one evening's concert.

In the first weekend of "Triple Bill," each evening will include dance: selected choreography from New Jersey artists Heidi Bunting, Jane Gifford, Michelle Mathesius, Mary Pat Robertson, Janet Rowthorn, and John Watson Stewart. Each evening will also include song: a vocal concert by Cahoots, an a capella jazz quartet; and theatre: excerpts from "Talking With...," monologues by women.

In the second weekend, each evening will include still more choreography from Gifford, Mathesius, Robertson and Stewart, and in addition from Beth Flaherty and Nancy Thiel; a revue of show tunes with Susan Guerrara, C. Peter Kauxmann, Eve Kochen, Derry Light, John Watson Stewart and Matthew Wright, and further excerpts from "Talking With..."

"Triple Bill" is being sandwiched between two popular American musicals, The Music Mon, which has just completed a two-weekend run, and the 50's rock 'n' roll musical Grease. Grease is due on August 16-19 and 23-26.

Tickets may be purchased at Cox's in Princeton or at the box office after 6 p.m. on show nights. For reservations call 921-8542.

TO LAUNCH 'PINAFORE'

At Open Air Theatre. Gilbert & Sullivan's H.M.S. Pinafore will be presented by the Princeton Opera Association at the Open Air Theater in Washington Crossing Park August 9 through 11, and August 15 through 18. Curtain time is 8:30.

Betty Beltz of Yardley is the producer and Jeff Byrum of Trenton, the director. Some of the characters that bring this nautical adventure to life are Bruce Turner as Ralph Rackstraw; Andy Hornyak as Captain Corcoran; Winnifred Livesay as the captain's daughter, Josephine; Warren Raymond as Sir Joseph Porter, K.C.B.; and Nora Sirbaugh as Buttercup.

Also appearing in leading roles are Tim Rudoph, Garth Raymond, Stephen Decker and Jan Maxwell. The musical director is Igor Chichagov. Pinafore abounds in tunes to go home whistling: "When I Was a Lad," "Now Give Three Cheers," and "We Sail the Ocean Blue" are examples.

The story takes place on a British Navy ship in the 19th century and is a satire on the social hierarchy in Victorian England. It is about two couples in love, who due to their different social classes, are fobidden to show their affections outwardly to each other.

Ralph Rackstraw, a simple sailor, lowly born is in love with the captain's daughter, Josephine, who is a member of the upper classes. Likewise, Little Buttercup, a lowly peddlar woman, is in love with the captain. Meanwhile, to complicate matters, the captain arranges the marriage of his daughter to Sir Joseph Porter, the most upper class of all. The unravelling of true love and the dark secret that Buttercup possesses give ample opportunity to show off the wit and wisdom of Mssrs. Gilbert and Sullivan.

Tickets are $4 Wednesday and Thursday and $5 on Friday and Saturday. Students under 12 are admitted for $1.50, and children under school age may come free. There is free parking.

SONDHEIM MUSIC NEXT

MUSIC

FINAL CONCERT SET

By String Quartet. The Alexander String Quartet will cap the Princeton University Outdoor Chamber Concerts season. The Quartet will perform Wednesday, August 8, at 8 in the courtyard of the Graduate College.

In 1982, the foursome became the first string quartet to win the prestigious Concert Artists Guild Award. Participating regularly in the Young Audiences' programs and the Lincoln Center "Meet the Artists" series, the members of the quartet are interested in "accessible music" and "lack of stuffiness," according to violinist Kate Ransom.

The members of the quartet are Eric Pritchard and Miss Ransom, violins; Paul Yarbrough, viola, and Sandy Wilson, cello. They started playing together at Yale University and are now in residence at Castle Hill in Ipswich, Mass., and at the Strawberry Banke Chamber Music Festival in New Hampshire.

For their concert here they will perform works by Haydn, Dvorak and Debussy. In case of rain the free outdoor event will move to the University Chapel. To check the location, call 452-5977 after 4. Parking is available at the Graduate School parking lot off Springdale Road.

Blankets or lawn chairs are recommended.

ALEXANDER STRING QUARTET will play works by Haydn, Dvorak and Debussy Wednesday, August 8, at 8 p.m. in the Graduate College courtyard. The concert is the last of the summer's Outdoor Chamber Series. Members of the Alexander are Eric Pritchard and Kate Ransom, violins; Paul Yarbrough, viola, and Sandy Wilson, cello.

EXTRA CONCERT SET

By Summer Sounds. The Summer Sounds Concert series has added Matrix Fulcrum to the schedule. The rock group will perform Thursday, August 2, at 7:30 in the Community Park North amphitheatre.

The group began four years ago when Rob Borg and Wayne Lytle were playing together in Princeton High School. They were originally called Alto Mezmerandom, and in 1982 changed the name to Matrix Fulcrum. In 1983 Bruce Howell was added to the band,

The emphasis has been on preparing material for a tape-album that is expected to be released soon, but the group has also worked on improving their live performances. The members are Wayne Lytle, synthesizer and organ; Rob Borg, drums and percussion; and Bruce Howell, electric guitar and guitar synthesizer.

ROYAL SCHOOL IS DUE

For Concert at Chapel. Allan Wickes, organist at Canterbury Cathedral, England, will direct a 200-voice choir of men and boys in a festival service Friday, August 3, at 8 in the Princeton University Chapel. The public is invited.

The choir is of The Royal School of Church Music, a non-profit organization based in Litchfield, Conn., with English headquarters in Croydon. Dedicated to promoting excellence in church music, the school organizes training courses in several major centers for choristers of all ages and abilities. It is an ecumenical organization which seeks to encourage "all sorts and conditions of choirs," according to a press release.

TO PERFORM AT MUSEUM

Ballet Workshop. Students of Princeton Ballet's Summer Workshop '84 will present a Showcase Performance on Friday evening, August 3, at 7:30 in the air-conditioned auditorium of The New Jersey State Museum, 205 West State Street, Trenton. The public is invited; admission is free.

The program will open with "Handel Suite," choreographed by Lila Brunner, former ballet mistress of The Princeton Ballet Company, and set to the "Water Music" by Handel. The second ballet, a new work choreographed by Mary Pat Robertson of Teamwork Dance, has been set on nine men from the Workshop ranks and is an athletic modern piece set to calypso music.

A highlight of the program will be the first work of a student choreographer, Charles Cunningham. A resident of Piscataway, Mr. Cunningham has chosen Haydn's "Concerto in E Flat Major for Trumpet and Orchestra" for his three-movement ballet. The Showcase will feature the second movement of the ballet, a pas de deux which will be danced by the choreographer and Tara Segal, a workshop student.

Now in its fourth summer season under Princeton Ballet Society Director Judith Leviton, Workshop '84 gives dancers at the intermediate and advanced levels the opportunity to study on weekdaily basis with members of the Princeton Ballet School faculty and prominent guest instructors, Roger Triplett and Christine Sarry.

Classes in ballet, modern dance, jazz, composition and improvisation, drama for the dancer and kinesiology are offered. Since 1981, dancers from throughout the state have been joined by students from Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia and Idaho in the six-week long program which is held at the Princeton studios of the School of Ballet, 262 Alexander Street.

For further information, call the Princeton Ballet Society at 921-8747 or the museum at 292-6310.

The Festival Service will be sung by the participants in the 14th annual training course, some 200 boys and men who come from all over the U.S. to work under the direction of a distinguished faculty. The course will be held at Princeton University beginning Saturday, July 28. The service is the culmination of a week of intensive rehearsals, lectures and seminars.

The choir will also sing Sunday, August 5, at 11 at Trinity Episcopal Church, Wall Street, New York, and at St. Thomas Episcopal Church, Fifth Avenue and 53rd Street, also at 11 a.m. The grand conclusion will be a Festival Evensong at St. Thomas Church at 4 p.m.

RECITAL PLANNED

By New Chamber Group. The Fiati Chamber Players, a recently formed group of musicians from Princeton and New York, will present a recital on Tuesday, August 7, at 8 at Woolworth Center on the Princeton University campus. There will be a suggested donation of $5, $3 for students and senior citizens.

The Fiati Chamber Players specialize in rarely heard works for voice and winds. The members are Shannon Williams, soprano; Melissa Bohl, oboe, Edwin Alexander, bassoon; and William Hicks, piano.

For the August 7 recital they will be joined by Beth Wiemann, clarinet, and Richard Rosolino, horn, for a performance of Mozart's Quintet in E-flat, K. 452, for four winds and piano.

The program features a new work, written for the Fiati Chamber Players by Deolus Husband of New York City, called "The Angel," for soprano, oboe, bassoon, and piano. It is a setting of the poem by William Blake.

The program continues with three lieder of Richard Strauss, Chabrier's "L'Invitation au voyage" for soprano, bassoon, and piano, and Francis Poulenc's sentimental and satirical Trio for oboe, bassoon, and piano.

Shannon Williams is a student of Clarice Carson in New York. She was awarded a Fullbright in 1978-9 for vocal study in Rome, and has been a Metropolitan Opera National Council Auditions semi-finalist.

Melissa Bohl is a former member of the Louisville Orchestra, the New Arts Ensemble for Contemporary Chamber Music, and the music faculties of Notre Dame University and the University of Southern Mississippi. She is at present a doctoral candidate in musicology at Princeton University.

Edwin Alexander is a free-lance bassoonist, on both modern and baroque instruments, in New York. He is completing a DMA from Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and is a former member of the music faculty at the University of Southern Mississippi.

William Hicks is a New York City voice and repertoire coach. He has served as assistant conductor and coach for the New York City Opera and the opera companies of Fort Worth, Omaha, and Cincinnati. Mr. Hicks has recently recorded an album for RCA entitled, "Songs of New York."

NASSAU IN GEAR

For Swim Championships. Nassau Swim Club closed out the dual meet season with two consecutive victories last week to raise its record to 4-3 and put the club back on the winning track prior to this week's Princeton Area Swimming and Diving championships.

The diving championships were scheduled for Monday and Tuesday at the Pennbrook Swim Club in Pennington. The swimming finals for girls begin Wednesday at the Stoneybrook Swim Club in Hopewell. The boys' championship meet begins Thursday, also at Stoneybrook.

Nassau edged the Valley Swim Club of Flemington, 168-154, in a meet in which Nassau boasted five triple winners. Rebecca Jones scored victories in both the 17 and under and 12 and under diving events and also swam on the winning 200 medley relay team.

Jane Skillman won the 12 and under individual medley, the 10 and under butterfly, and competed on the winning team in the 100 medley relay. Ashley Dixon captured the girls' 10 and under breast stroke, the girls' 12 and under 50 backstroke, and also was on the 200 medley relay.

Winning the 8 and under girls' backstroke, and the 8 and under freestyle, was Christine Jensen, who also picked up a third win with the 10 and under 100 medley relay. Mark Nystrom scored three firsts for the boys: in the 17 and under individual medley, the 17 and under butterfly, and on the 17 and under 200 medley relay team.

Winnin' Swimmers. Other Nassau winners included Adam Haycock, 12 and under diving; Erica Cakmak, 12 and under freestyle and in the 200 medley relay; Landon Jones, 8 and under boys' breast stroke; and Scott Petrone, 12 and under boys' butterfly.

Also Sarah Deffeyes, 17 and under breast stroke; Matthew Sanderson, 14 and under freestyle; and Jessica Fraker, 17 and under freestyle.

Nassau closed its dual meet season with a 169-152 defeat of Flemington-Raritan. Skillman scored another triple for Nassau, and her effort was matched by Gian Scozzaro, who took firsts in the boys' 10 and under individual medley, butterfly, and relay.

Rebecca Jones and Haycock repeated their victories in the diving events, and Nassau was aided further by the return of John Cummings, who took first place in the 17 and under event just days after his return from Vienna, where he had been performing with the Princeton High School orchestra.

Double Winners. Nassau had 10 more double winners in the win over Flemington. They were Kiran Cummings, 17 and under butterfly and relay; Sarah Deffeyes, 14 and under individual medley and and relay; Christine Jensen, 8 and under butterfly and relay; Ashley Dixon, 10 and under backstroke and relay; and Jessica Fraker, 17 and under breast stroke and relay.

Also Rebecca Dryer, 8 and under breast stroke and relay; Erica Cakmak, 12 and under breast stroke and relay; Mark Nystrom, 17 and under backstroke and freestyle; and Adam Haycock, 10 and under breast stroke as well as the 12 and under diving.

Nassau scored five firsts in the relay events, including four in the girls' competition.

was too late to do the Princeton club any good

Coming at the end of the regular season, the six-game skid prevented the 76ers from achieving their goal of finishing fifth in the Mercer County American Legion race and capturing the final playoff spot.

The team was scheduled to end its season this week in a crucial game against Hamilton which was tied with Ewing for the league lead. Both were 19-7, while Princeton is 11-15.

Princeton included five doubles in its 12-hit attack against Lawrence, including one by Mike Walker who batted 3-for-4 to lead Post 76 at the plate. The victors hunched nine of their runs in the fourth inning to put the game out of reach for the hapless Lawrence team which lost its eighth in a row and is mired in the league cellar with a 2-23 record.

Scott Pierson, one of three returning pitchers coach Larry Bender is counting on to carry Post 76 next year, pitched a five-hitter and got the win. It was his second against one loss.

The previous day, Post 76 had suffered its sixth straight defeat when it was edged, 5-4, by Bordentown.

Princetnn started well. It got a solo homer in the first inning by Walker, described by Bender as a "380 to 400 foot shot," and Brian Lennox and Dino D'Angelo each drove in runs as the 76ers took a 3-0 lead after two innings.

Princetnn pitcher Bill Feus wns breezing along until the fifth when Bordentown scnred all its runs. The victors combined one hit, four of the seven walks Feus issued, and a two-hase error, for five runs. "That was it. I don't think they hit the ball out of the infield," fussed Bender. "Feus pitched a good game (four hits) but he gave up all those walks."

For Feus, the loss evened his record at 3-3. Phil Coyne got the win, his first decision of the season.

On Saturday, Ewing scored three rons in the second and three more in the third inning to defeat Princeton, 6-3. All the scoring was done in the first three innings. Ewing took a 3-0 lead in the second on an RBI single by Joe Thompson and Jeff Gillmer's two-run homer. Princeton answered with two runs of its own, Lenox and Mickey Carnevale driving in runs as Post 76 outhit Ewing, 7-6. But the veteran Post 314 team countered with three more runs, combining a double, an error, single, balk and passed ball.

Mike Walker (1-2) was charged with the loss, while Rosty Mahan got the win — his fourth.

Princeton began the week with a 7-5 loss to Trenton, falling behind 4-1 in the first inning and never being able to regain the lead. A double by Princton's Gavin Hulsman was the only extra base hit allowed hy Trenton winning pitcher Ken Zahn. Carnevale, Craig Ender, Jason Petrone and Mike Petrone drove in rons for Post 76, but not enough for pitcher Dave Arendas who was charged with the loss.

Bender attributed Princeton's slide to "stupid baseball. I've never seen kids be so stupid

"They're doing things you don't do in Little League. We're just playing poor baseball right now.

"We've had 11 base-running errors by 11 different people. It's nothing but mental; we're not into the sport mentally, as, say Hamilton, comes up to it in their system. We just don't have it. You can see it in the Babe Roth system in the Hopewell-West Windsor area and you can see it in high school ball."

2 STATE TITLES ADDED

By Sweet Jersey Corn. When you're hot you're hot, and right now Sweet Jersey Corn, the Princeton-based women's softball team, is on fire.

The Corn, which has won 48 consecutive games in the competitive Mercer County Women's A League, engineered another feat on Sunday when it captured its second state title in as many weeks. Such a double, according to Robert O. Smyth, the team's coach and statistician, has never been achieved before in New Jersey.

Last weekend, SJC won its second consecutive United States Slo Pitch Softball Association State Championship and on Sunday it won its second American Softball Association state crown in three years. (It finished second last year.)

As a result, says Smyth, the Sweet Jersey Corn team can lay undisputed claim to the title: best women's slow pitch softball team in New Jersey.

Because of rain, the entire eight-team, double elimination ASA tournament was played on Sunday.

The Corn opened against the Rascals from Perth Amboy and blanked them, 2-0, on good defense highlighted by a fine catch by left center fielder Debbie Smyth. Offensively, Beth Muzyka tripled home both Corn runs as Clare Baxter recorded the win.

Against Kee Insurance from Camden, the Cornsters scored two in the first inning on a triple by Grace Dorland, a single by Dee Discavage and Muzyka's double. After Kee went ahead, 3-2, SJC tied it on hits by Baxter and Carol Knapp.

When Smyth made another outstanding catch in the top of the sixth to stifle a Kee scoring threat, the Corn went on to win the game, 5-3, scoring two runs in the same inning. Singles by Knapp and Donna Nicholson and a double by Doreen Ragazzo accounted for the winning runs. Baxter was again the winning pitcher.

Corn's next game was the winners' bracket final against the Teddy Bears, the same team SJC had defeated the previous week to win the USSA title and which had beaten the Corn for the 1983 ASA crown. The Bears were just as formidable this year. They scored four runs in the first inning and limited SJC to four hits in posting a 4-0 victory.

As a result, SJC had to face Kee again in the losers' bracket final. This time it was no contest, as the Cornsters erupted for 22 hits en route to a 12-4 victory.

Smyth and Durland each had four hits in five appearances while Discavage and Knapp collected three hits apiece. Ragazzo and Nicholson contributed four hits (each 2-for-4) as Baxter picked up her third win in the tournament, getting relief from Louann Slocum-Robidoux.

To win the tournament, Sweet Jersey Corn now had to face the Teddy Bears again and defeat them twice in a row.

In the first game, the Cornsters combined the five-hit pitching of Baxter with solid defensive play to eke out a 2-1 victory. They scored both their runs in the fourth on hits by Nicholson and Discavage and a sacrifice fly by Baxter.

In the championship game — its sixth of the day — SJC scored four runs in the second and third innings on hits by Hibbs, Muzyka (triple), Knapp, Ragazza (double) and Nicholson for a 4-2 victory. Again, although the Bears tallied twice in the sixth, the solid Corn defense prevailed. Smyth made a fine catch in the last inning to end the game.

And Counting. The Sweet Jersey Corn women's softball team last week won its 47th and 48th consecutive games in the Mercer County Women's A League, defeating Larry's Corner Tavern, 4-1, and topping second-place 3 Seasons, 8-5, in a thrilling 13-inning battle. The twin victories were the team's 21st and 22d this season.

In its next start, the Corn will oppose Champale Thursday at 6:30 at Mercer County Park.

In its game with arch rival 3 Seasons, Sweet Jersey Corn took a 4-2 lead in the second inning on hits by pitcher Clare Baxter (3-for-5) and Dee Vertucci, a Donna Nicholson double and another hit by Debbie Smyth, who rapped out four safeties in six at bats.

After 3 Seasons had tied the score at 4 in the fourth, neither team threatened until the tenth when, with two out, Nicholson connected for her second double and advanced to third on Smyth's single. Nicholson was stranded, however, when the 3 Seasons' left fielder gloved a fine drive off the bat of Grace Durland.

In the top of the 13th, SJC sent four runs across the plate. After Nicholson and Smyth had led off the inning with singles, Durland and Dee Discavage followed with singles to drive in one run, Beth Muzyka doubled home two more and Baxter plated the fourth run with a sacrifice fly.

3 Seasons managed to get one run back in its half of the inning but that was all and once again the Corn had prevailed over its chief rival.

Earlier, winning pitcher Baxter and Muzyka each had two hits to lead the Corn past Larry's Tavern.

GARDENING GOODIES
with Sam DeTuro
Woodwinds Associates

Did you know that working in your garden burns 220 calories per hour? The President's Council on Physical Fitness considers this a mild activity as ditch digging burns 400 calories per hour.

This year in shaping up to be one of the worst years for ANTHRACNOSE in recent memory. The cool, wet weather during the spring has enhenced disease development. Although it is too late to spray now you might want to seriously consider fertilizing your sycamores to stimulate tree vigor and don't forget watering and pruning will give a helping hand

Not a big year for insects on your trees and shrubs. Most gardeners will find no necessity for a second foliar spray.

When you water your garden remember that you should try to moisten the soil to a six-inch depth; then it will last for a few days.

Padding your plant stakes will help prevent eye accidents Cut the foot off of stocking or tights below the heel and stuff it with cut up pieces from the remainder of the garment. Pack the pieces firmly or the stake will be felt through the pad. Bind onto the stake with white plastic-coated febric tape.

Call us at WOODWINDS (924-3500) with all of your tree care questions!!

County Outdoor Tennis Center in Mercer County Park.

Prize money totalling $1,100 will be distributed in singles and doubles. Proceeds from the tournament will be donated to the Hodgkins Disease Foundation in memory of Jim Cryan, a star athlete from Hamilton High School who died of that disease in 1964.

The tournament is sanctioned by the New Jersey and Middle States Tennis Association and all participants must have valid and current membership cards. Applications are available at tennis clubs or at the Mercer County Outdoor Tennis Center. The deadline for entry is next Tuesday.

AREA PLAYERS COMPETE

In Hockey Tournament. Few people think of ice hockey in the summer, but for high school age boys hoping to excel on teams in the winter, now is the time to improve skating and stick handling skills.

Some go to camps in New England, but others remain in New Jersey and participate in the Garden State Games, now in their second year. The four-day event features players split into four teams, North, South, East and West, in a round robin with championship games at the end.

Six players from the Princeton area competed for the South squad in four games, held last Wednesday through Saturday at the Ice Palace in Brick Township. They were coached by Bruce Delventhal, a former assistant to Jim Higgins, Princeton hockey coach. Delventhal will become head coach at R.I.T. this fall.

The players included three Princeton residents, Ned Desmond, who attends Hotchkiss, and Lance Savage and Peter Smith, both students at Lawrenceville. Three members of the Princeton Day School team also played, Jack Cook of Kingston, and Marty Scasserra and Kevin Cragg, both of Lawrenceville.

The South team finished with a 3-1 record, but under a complicated system for determining the finalists, ended third in the tournament. It opened with a 6-3 loss to the East squad, but then bounced back with a 7-5 triumph over North and a 9-0 rout of West.

It barely missed getting into the finals, and had to settle for another lopsided win over West, 10-1, and third place. All six Princeton players scored points for their team, and Desmond was named to the all-tournament squad

WOLF ON TARGET

For Olympic Gold. Those viewing the Los Angeles Olympic competition next week may see the large frame of a recent Princeton University graduate fill their television screen. August Wolf, 6-feet-7, 290 pounds, will be competing in the shot put for the United States team and will be aiming for nothing less than a gold medal.

In a warm-up meet last month in Stuttgart, West Germany, Wolf put the shot 70 feet, 7¼ inches, an effort that surpasses the current Olympic record in the event. He has thrown as far as 71-3, and in the U.S. Olympic qualifying meet he launched a throw that appeared to exceed 72 feet but was disqualified.

Wolf finished second, by less than five inches, to Dave Laut in the qualifying meet. Now, with the boycott by the Eastern bloc athletes of the games, the Americans are rated favorites in the event, along with Italy's Allesandro Andrei.

The shot put finals are scheduled for Saturday, August 11.

RETURN TO PRINCETON

After Four Decades. Over 40 years ago, Carmen Ranallo, a graduate of Princeton High School, left his home town to serve in World War II. His parents, Maria and Valentino Ranallo, had emigrated from Italy to Princeton in 1913 and had raised their eight children in their home on John Street.

When the war ended, Mr. Ranallo married an Australian woman and settled outside of Sydney. Now, for the first time, he is back in the States as a reporter covering the Olympics for the Australian Associated Press and other papers. And, when the games are over, he'll come back to Princeton for at least two reunion parties.

His sister, Mrs. Clare Dougherty of Redding Circle, is the only member of the family still living in Princeton. She said that she doesn't think her brother will be able to recognize the town; there have been so many changes.

The parties will take place in Hopewell and Skillman at the homes of Mr. Ranallo's nephews. At least 60 family members will attend.

PICNIC PLANNED

For Job Seekers. Job-seekers, a resource group of professionals providing ongoing assistance in all stages of career development, will hold a picnic on Sunday, August 12, in Princeton. The public is welcome. Call 924-2411 for further details.
